1996, Vol. 66

An important part of our Christian education is our friendship with God. This picture is of Evergreen Chapel, where most female students spend time worshipping. The photo fits, seeing as this is the year of a Great Awakening at Auburn.

Excuse me? What did you say?" Travis Culver and Richie Thomas engage in an animated discussion during the Mountain Outing at Sunset Lake.

The Seniors have proven time and again the unity and strength of their class. The yearly senior group photo is symbolic of that strength and unity. This is the year for 1996!

Dustin Rollins and James Davis find time to read the Word and chill out at Sunset Lake. The yearly Sabbath excursion offers many opportunities for God and friends.

SENIORS

ALL THE RIGHT MOVES!

Seniors, Comin' on Strong!

TIMES ARE CHANGING... As we look back over the years, we see what we used to be. When we plan our future, we discover who we are. All of our dreams and disappointments, all our accomplishments and experiences, the lessons we've learned, and the friends we've made, play a role in shaping tomorrow.

WHAT HAS AUBURN TAUGHT US...

To love? To grow? Has it taught us who God is? Has it taught us who we are? We look to the future filled with anxiety, frustration, and hope. We remember the past, with its laughter and learning. All the components of our success are determined by the quality of today. MOVING ALONG, we see that Auburn teaches us to learn for a lifetime... not just for a school year.

WHAT MEMORIES WILL WE TAKE WITH US... "The thing I remember," laughs Toby Smith, "is just hanging out with friends and having fun." Looking back over the years we've shared, it's hard to comprehend all the changes we've undergone. So many things are drastically altered—friends, our values, our goals, even our outlook on life. What do we have left after the wake of discovery and change but memories.

WHAT'S MORE... the senior class is recognized as a class of achievers. We have awesome athletes, award-winning musicians, persuasive actors, intellectuals, and dreamers. We are strong and influential. We break boundaries. We create tomorrows. Our future is not determined by who we were, but by what we are. It's easy to see why the class of 1996 has ALL THE RIGHT MOVES...

JUNIORS

MOVING RIGHT ALONG...

1997 Better Than Ever!

When it comes to CLASS SPIRIT, you've got to admit, the JUNIORS definitely have it. Whether at a class game or a class sponsored event, there's no end to the support they offer one another. This is probably due to the closeness of the class. "We're really a BONDED class," smiles president, Gina GROSSWILER "It's so much better than our Freshmen year! Plus, when we're all together, we really pour it on... it's great!"

There's no doubt that a unified class makes for a lot of class spirit. In turn, that amazing amount of spirit makes an awesome class. The JUNIORS are a phenomenal class! And it's mostly attributed to their class spirit.

The Junior class has so much individuality—we break all the rules!

~Jeremy Tidwell, Junior~

The Class of 1997 is also really proud. And while the Seniors RULE the house, the JUNIORS definitely ROCK it.

The JUNIOR class is totally pumped about this year. "We have definitely got what it takes to have the BEST year ever!" —Alex Hallock. So, while the class of 1997 has always been awesome, it's plain to see that this year, they're BETTER THAN EVER...

SOPHOMORES

MOVING UP What We're Made Of...

The class of 1998 has definitely been making progress. For some, the second year in high school proves to be easier than the first, but for others it's harder. There have been some awesome achievements for the SOPHOMORE class. In general, they've had to adjust to a different schedule, different classes, and the realization that they are no longer bottom of the heap.

They are also widely known as probably the most spiritual class at Auburn. As a unit, they really know God. "We are so strong spiritually," states Derek Fletcher, president, "because we are very unified. We aren't afraid to express our feelings toward our God."

And Auburn has obviously helped the lives of many. Like Tara Vinyard, "I am so much stronger in Christ this year than last. Last August, I was baptized. If I had not come to Auburn, that would never have happened. I wouldn't even know God." And her story is not unusual. Auburn has helped an innumerable amount of people come to know Christ.

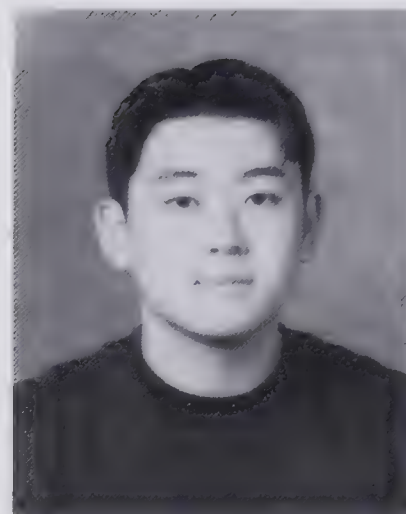

It is crystal clear how far the class of 1998 has come. As they MOVE UP through their next two years of high school, they will only go farther.

FRESHMEN

NEW MOVES

Freshmen Break the Mold...

For many freshmen, the prospect of high school brought a great deal of anxiety. New classes, teachers, schedules, friends, and stresses. Brand new discoveries to... well... discover. This could really frighten anyone.

"I was so scared at first!" Admits Lindsey Barker. "I didn't know anyone or where to go." But adjusting has proven to be easier than expected.

Surprisingly, the class of 1999 took first place at the ASB Getting to Know You games. This set the pace for a class with a whole lot of pride. They have shown a tremendous amount of spirit for a Freshman class. In the past, most ninth graders have succumbed to the Freshman mold, but this class has really shown an inordinate amount of strength and self assurance.

In all, it's pretty hard to deny that this class, the class of 1999, is definitely going to go places. They will build dreams, accomplish them, and work past their "Freshmenness". After all, next year, they will be Sophomores--and well on their way.

Mr. Wright, Bible teacher, works on some taxidermy after class. He's a well known animal lover and has owned pets that ranged from a boa constrictor to an Egyptian lizard to a barn owl.

Mr. Allen introduces his college level engineering class to a sophisticated piece of surveying equipment, the theodolite. He also teaches research physics and general physics.

Academics

Rachel Hoard and Jeremy Tidwell share their wisdom with each other while in the administrative offices. Studying out of class is almost required for most classes, studying with friends just makes life a little less stressful.

Learning to tear down and then reassemble a transmission is an important part of Auto-mechanics. Rick Mackenzie is putting the final touches into the bearing housing.

I like this class! I can sit and talk to my friends!" Laura Gildersleeve and Chris Gibson spend a little time catching up on life.

David Niderost tries to find the reason to why he's missing work in Mrs. Z English class. "A good start would be to turn something in. . ." Mrs. Z always has a way of making things simple so anybody can understand.

Will you please go with me to the Christmas banquet?" This one word at a time message really made Louisa Fandrich smile. Putting one of the words on her computer was one of the many creative ways Walter Cox found to send this very special message.

Singing is very much a part of all of Mr. Wright's classes. Juli Jutzy really enjoys these opportunities to be yourself, and show a little character.

Learning how to stalk an animal by moving very slowly is not something you would normally learn in a Bible class. Mr. Wright gives Jodi Winters and Terri Allen a chance to learn in a more relaxed environment, while at the same time inspiring us to mature spiritually and mentally.

Science

How much does this thing weigh anyway? Megan Maxwell and Dawn Gately labor over a chemistry lab assignment.

Hard at work planning out and then drawing the plans for their dream home's makes learning fun for Josh Ashcroft and Jethro Hon in drafting and CADD. Now only if we could build these things in wood shop.

Ms. Toop helps Salena Reber get her back work sorted out while Danny Hernandez wishes he had done his.

Alpha two zero four, this is Bravo one three, please confirm your elevation of 431.013 feet over. Sydney Foster, Eh Sataranuvat, and Valipa Maleenont gain real experience working with the level loop in Engineering 121.

Mr. Allen keeps a watchful eye on Dominica Reed while training her for work on the High energy ballistics project for NASA that the Research Physics classes have been working on for a number of years.

Chemistry students get the opportunity to tour a cyclotron in Canada that propels particles at near light speeds. These devices are very useful in discovering the nature of atoms and sub-atomic particles.

Cutting out little squares is a different twist for biology student Jeremy Watson.

Bible

Nikki Sharp prepares for Bible class from Mr. Koehn, the man who is responsible for the Glance.

Asking a question is something you can always do in Mr. Wright's class. Kristen Fletcher is eager to learn the why's and wherefore's.

Aнна Walbrun stays after class to talk with Mr. Wright and a representative from a Beikvot HaMashiach congregation. Having exposure to other religions is one of the many exciting things that happen in Senior Bible.

Observing a student tell the class their opinions is why Mr. Wright enjoys teaching. "I enjoy watching other people learn things all by themselves, I'm only here to guide you."

Banquet pictures are one of Mr. Koehn's favorite things to do. "I enjoy taking pictures!" Bibledoctrines is Mr. Koehn's main class, an in-depth study of why we as Adventist believe what we do.

Every classroom should have a couch! Seniors read through the words of a spiritual during Bible.

Scott Davis rests while listening to some tunes in Bible. When life is getting you down try a little music to brighten your day, and lift your spirits.

History

Posing as Merriwether Lewis, Jim Mellon brings the NW history tour alive with his reenactment of the famous pose.

Go deep! Uncle Ron plays many different roles as Auburn teacher, sponsor, friend, quarterback. The history tour is where all the history you've learned comes together right before your eyes.

Pastor Worley helps Stephanie Gilliland with an assignment in his history class. Having probably the most jobs on campus can't be easy, history teacher, Bible teacher, village dean, director of attendance, but he manages with style.

SNIPER! Even all these guys couldn't keep Travis Stoval down. After standing up with guys hanging on for dear life, the man from Kansas proves it takes more than numbers to bring him down.

Looking across the hills of the Palouse, DeValarie Love and Julie Wasemiller get to see first hand what wheat farming is all about.

This water is only a few degrees above absolute zero but we're going to have fun anyway. Anna Torfason, JoAnna Sexton and Tara Vineyard are ready for the raft trip down the Salmon River, definitely the highlight of the History tour!

Lecturing on the beginnings of this nation, Mr. Fackenthall speaks about why the bill of rights was and still is so important, how the basic freedoms need to be preserved, free speech, right to keep and bear arms, freedom to a peaceful assembly, etc..

Language Arts and ESL

Working diligently on his Spanish, Robert Woodcock considers which conjugation of besar he should use to fill in the blank: Yo no _____ en Auburn.

Jenna Melville speaks from Albert Einstein's perspective for Speech where every person has to step into another person's shoes for a while and speak as if they are that person.

During the ESL retreat Yuka Aoki and Saki Yasuda take a break to eat lunch and spend time reflecting on God's wonderful creation.

After finishing a book on Japanese culture, Anita Umayam and Angi Robinson get to sample the real thing: Sushi with pickled horseradish. Mrs. Z often brings things like these that make the class seem a lot more real.

Karen Castillo gets her first taste of the Japanese culture, complete with chopsticks.

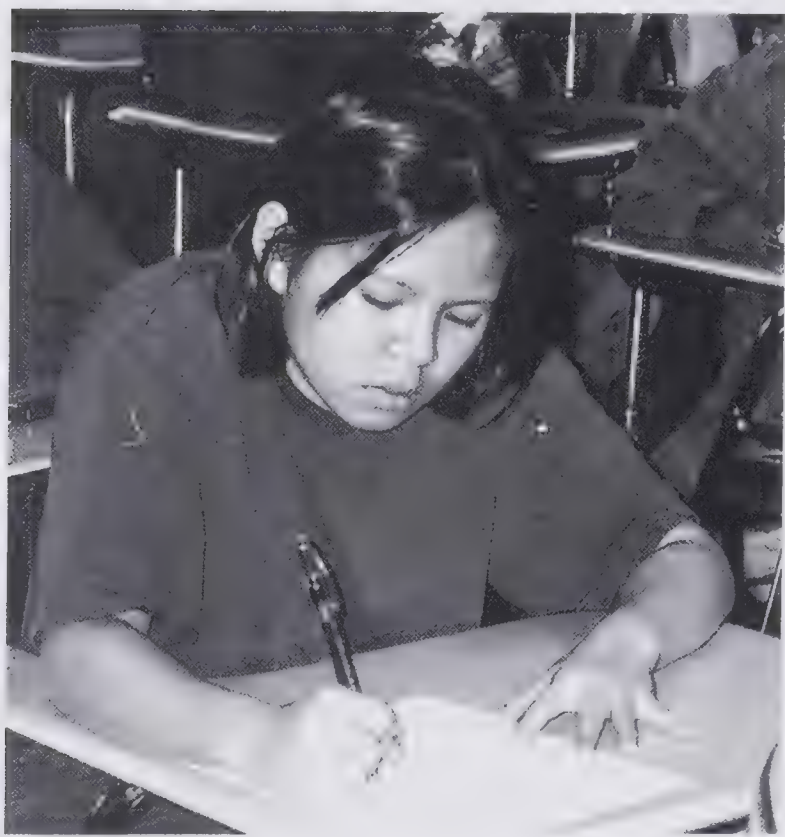

A group of the ESL students gather together to show that teamwork and friends are the only two things you really need to overcome the language barrier.

Heart to heart talks with students are sometimes needed. Beth Linder listens to Mrs. Bahnsen talk about the complexities of being a good writer.

Computers & Math

I can do this!" Suzi Vo contemplates the answer to $5i+p/Mx+b$.

My file just went shoom! Where did it go?" Mr. McKey help Mrs. Darroch in computer literacy. The main problem with computers is that they do exactly what you tell them to do.

Ted Swinyar shows Alex Hallock how replacing the toner cartridge can be fun. "Just put it in like this then nothing will happen, until you turn it on of course."

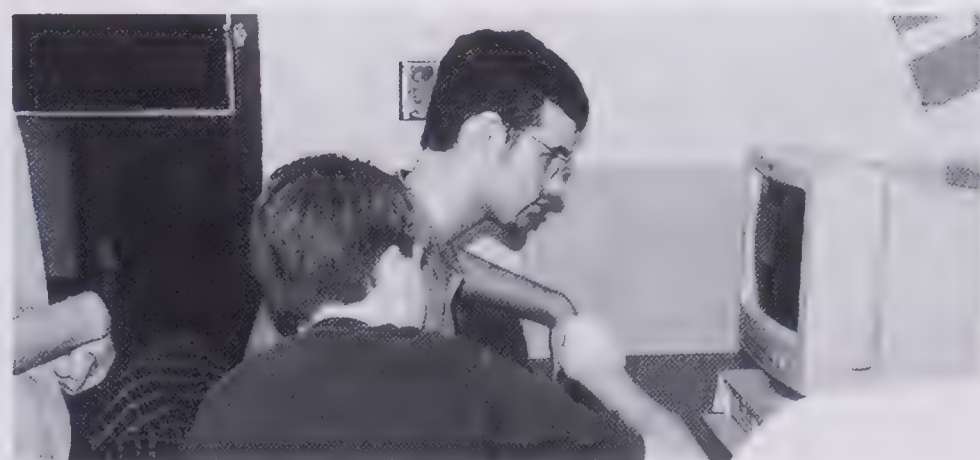

Sanjay Patel designs signs for his economics class business. Mr. Willison also teaches typing and accounting I & II.

Mrs. Withrow kindly explains to Walter Cox that his calculator can not do numbers 23-31. Thenext day Walter had finished the program that did numbers 23-31. Adina Dulan looks on with awe that the calculator just did in five minutes what took her over an hour.

Mr. Priest explains to Jeff Downs that only men with clean shaven chins can get women to date them. Being the geometry teacher isn't all Mr. Priest does, he is also the author of much "Priest Philosophy."

Dave Jollife helps John Hoffman work around the problem of "General protection fault in memory area 81F0:6416. Press any key to continue, and any other key to exit."

P.E. & Health

Advanced P.E. focuses a lot on weight training. Larry Paise works out doing the arm-curl. Don't make fun of him, it was his first day, so cut him some slack.

Basic P.E. students get to play a fun game called Snap, in which push-ups are just the beginning.

Mrs. Beck gives some helpful pointers to Amy Kobberstad on how to swim better. Some people will get up before first period to go swimming, that shows dedication!

Tomo Sakamaki works on perfecting his backhand for the Tennis tournament in the spring.

Do you have a skeleton in your closet? I have one. Mr. Kilgore talks about many of the important parts of the body in Health class. Where did you get that skeleton from Mr. Kilgore?

Stay with me buddy!" Anthony Stroud practices rescuing the "drowning" Tim Hill.

Practical Arts

Devalarie Love gets to practice some of the skills he's learned in Auto-mech on a real car, Nick Reiswig and Andy Springer coach him along in the process.

Jamie Kraus sports the trendy safety goggles that keep her eyes safe from the debris flying off her casting. Safety is the number one concern.

Andy Woelk shows off his skills in putting a transmission together while a classmate looks on in amazement.

Tonya Rincon and Marika Sapp show how with a little determined effort and a lot of work your foundry project can be done on time.

Cystal McCallum solicits the help in Mrs. Kilgore's ELS-A where the basics of sewing and cooking are taught. The dumbest question Mrs. Kilgore has ever heard? "Are you sure this needle is supposed to be going up and down all the time?"

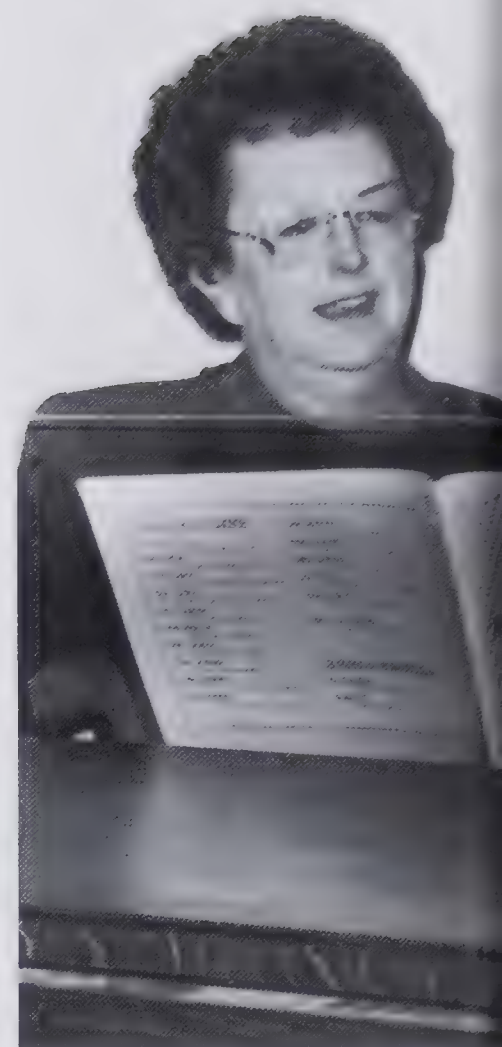

Angie Collver beams from behind the wheel of her car in drivers ed as classmates dive for cover.

Fine Arts, Piano, & Organ

Students in art class put the finishing touches on their masterpieces of creativity.

Hironobu Adachi dilligently practices his clarinet for band in the privacy of one of the music building's practice rooms.

Sarah Sharp answers the phone during a skit for the conference-wide Northwest Youth Challenge Rally held in November. Students came from all over the Northwest to participate in the series of meetings held on campus.

Flashing his famous grin, Andrew Nelson takes a short break from his practice session. Sylvan members are required to practice 45 minutes a week to improve their vocal capabilities and skills.

On a photo shooting expedition to Pike's Place Market, Aran Wongsaprom, Christopher McCullaugh, and Nathan Becraft attempt to capture some of the local scenery on film.

Practical Christianity

Tara Vinyard and Ashley Johnson solicit a house during Ingathering.

I will never understand girls!" Jeremy Tidwell rolls his eyes at the lively conversation between Heather Jarnes and Jenny Winn.

I don't think I look strange!" Pastor Martinsen insists. His little chapel getup was a big hit.

Brandon Thompson, B.J. Ikeda, and Toby Smith put together sack lunches for homeless people on Sabbath.

When I woke up this morning, I realized I'd forgotten to do half of my assignments from the night before, my best friend wasn't speaking to me, and to complicate things further, my favorite jeans were totally trashed. Before things could get any worse, I remembered to hit my knees.

Somewhere along the line, Auburn developed a reputation for being one of the "less-Christ-oriented" schools. Well, in the last two years, things have definitely changed for the better. With the growth of Magabooks, Christian Drama and Northwest Youth Challenge, Academy

NYC helped me to realize that God can use anyone, young or old, to reach others.

~Travis Culver, Class of 1996~

students have the opportunity to really get involved. Working for Christ has made a positive difference in the lives of many who participate.

These programs have aided the Christianity of so many, just by offering a different focus to students. When you find that you're working for God, it's impossible to walk away without being a changed person. Thanks to the Practical Christianity on campus now, Auburn is changing its reputation... for good!

Brad Dennis converses with a Stillaquamish Indian Chief.

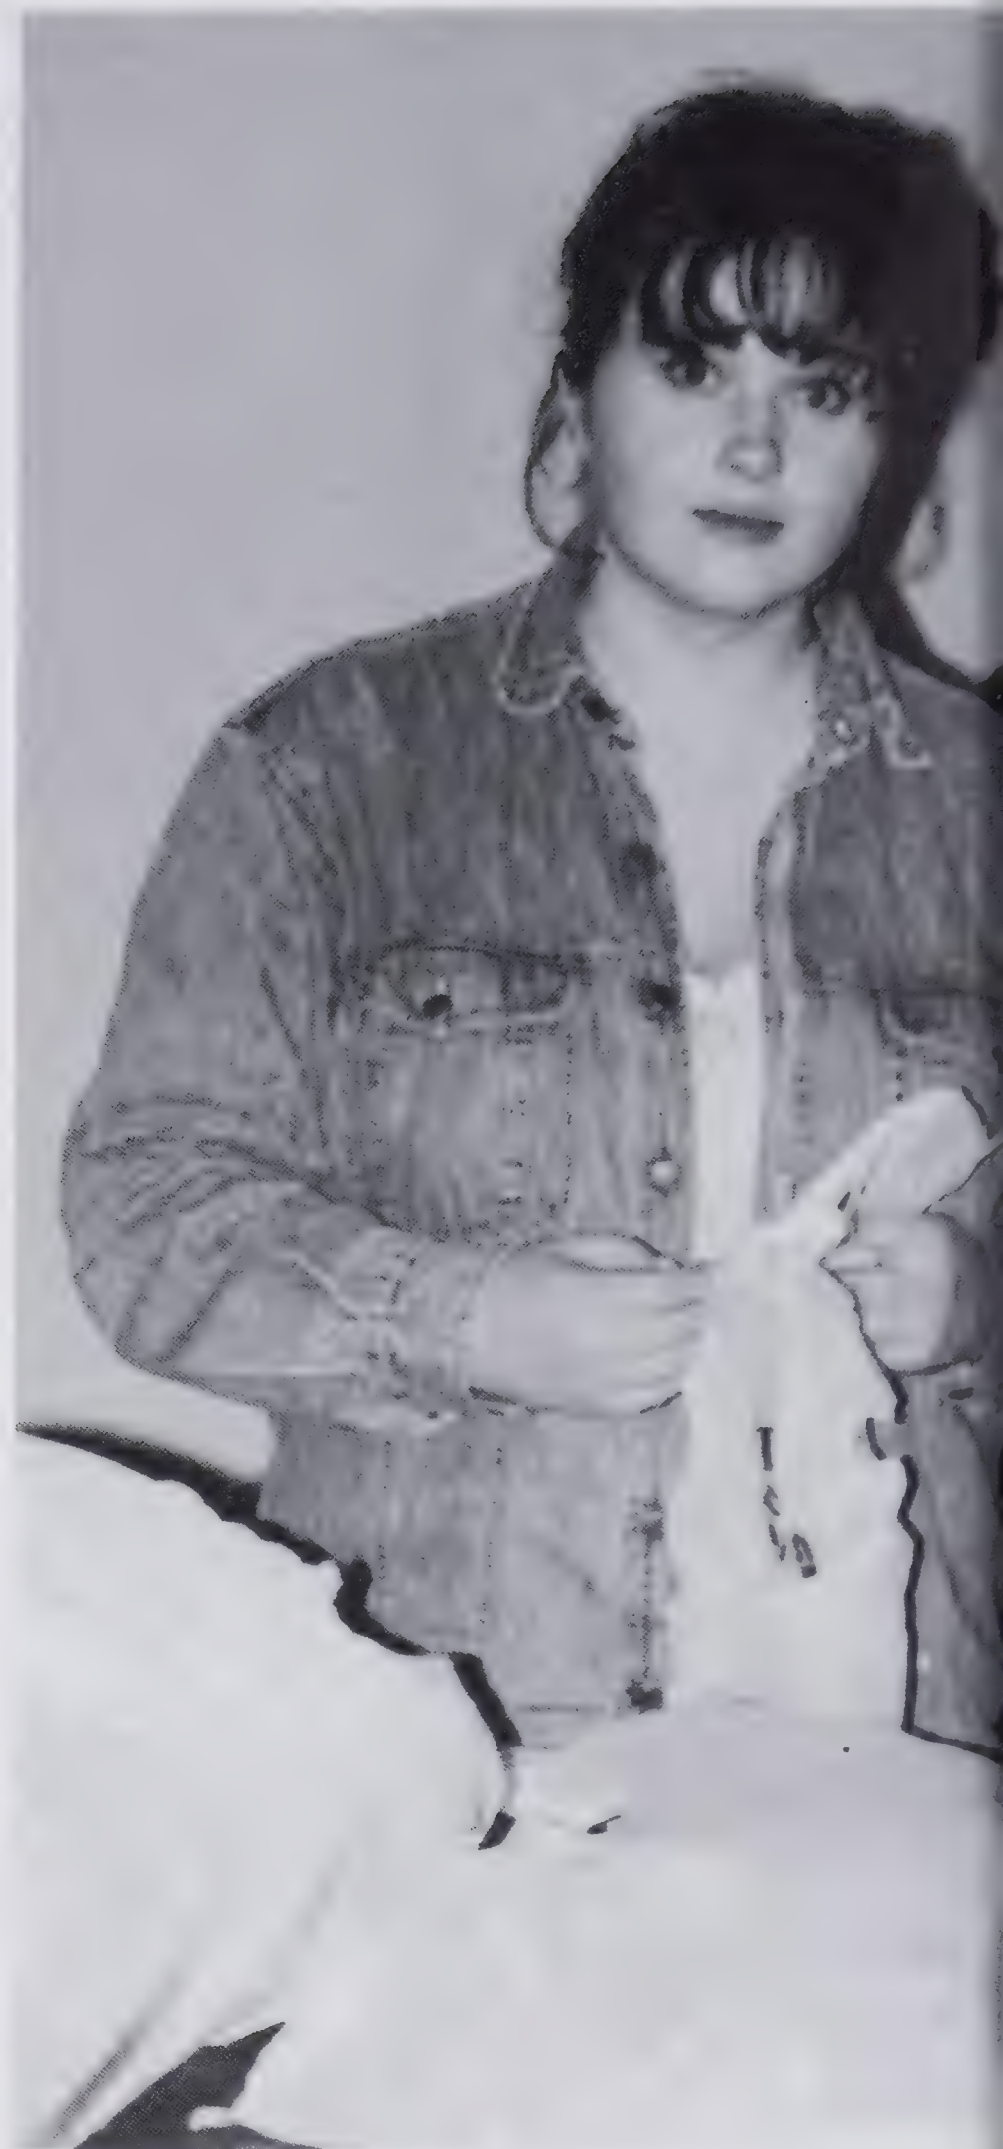

Please be honest... do you really like my hair?" Brandon Thompson and Stephanie Gilliland share a couch during Faculty Home Vespers.

Feeding the Homeless & Seminary Groups

Dominica Reed graces the congregation with her lovely smile and charming personality.

Children gather around Tara Vinyard as she reads them a story for church.

Dawn Gately offers a hand at the Kent SDA Church feeding the homeless.

As part of a seminary group Delvin Peterson, Tara Vinyard, Mary Kobberstad, Chris Gibson, Mandi Leno, and Anne Adams participate in the South Side Tacoma Church service.

Seminary group participants provided spiritual food for the church-goers, while the church-goers provided physical food for the students.

Delvin Peterson offers his talent for playing the piano. Delvin is a Junior in his 1st year at AAA.

Beth Graff helps feed the homeless by carving up apple pies just before they arrived.

Northwest Youth Challenge

A gentleman gives his testimony at the NYC Youth Rally while Tim Hill watches.

Pastor Cindy Tutsch baptizes Tara Vinyard at Sunset Lake.

Sadie Mannahan focuses on her Revelation Seminar. She goes out every Tuesday evening with NYC.

James Davis helps lead a study at the Bonney Lake Revelation Seminar.

Alex Hallock and Sarah Sharp teach Jennifer Thompson about God's love.

Terry Johnson entertains a church full of youth at the Rally. This is his 2ND year in a row as NYC Youth Rally speaker.

David Hayes and Bruce Harris get ready to give a Bible study. These two Juniors are partners teaching adult Bible studies in NYC.

Activities

Larry Paise and Brian Kim enjoy the awesome view while hiking.

Some like the way that Auburn is a fun school with diversity. There's no question when it comes to the major activities on campus- the students make the school. One thing that makes the activities at Auburn so unique and entertaining is the indellible focus on the students. Everything is geared towards making our high school lives a bit more tolerable. Whether it's a banquet,

Everyone's got so much school spirit here at Auburn, that the activities on campus become a lot of fun.

~Rachel Hoard, Junior~

intramural sports, or an off-campus excursion, you have to admit that the various activities are sure to be pretty exciting.

~Jill S. Gorham,
Literary Editor,
Class of 1996

Jennifer Jones, Elizabeth Darroch, Andrew Worley, and Jason McCulloh ponder a difficult question during the A.S.B. Bible Bowl.

Once again... Song service picture number 327...

Song service at the Sunset Lake outing. Can you spot the ASB officers?

Nate Pierce and Jennifer Kolsky find time to spend together at... yup, you guessed it, Sunset Lake!

Nan Rojvilawan listens to her friends intently. Good company makes attending Auburn special.

Nelson Hall

Yoo-sun Kim finds time to read a book in the Nelson Hall lobby.

Kay Sanborn. This is the lady that makes things happen in the girls dorm.

Thea Renfro relaxes after a long, busy day of school.

If you think I look good now, wait until after my shower!" promises Melanie Brashear.

Here's what you do..." Elena Kim helps Karen Castillo comprehend her homework.

Tina Beisker and Jennifer Bailey; girls dorm assistant deans.

Jenny Baker and Michelle Schultz laugh hysterically. No one can party like seniors!

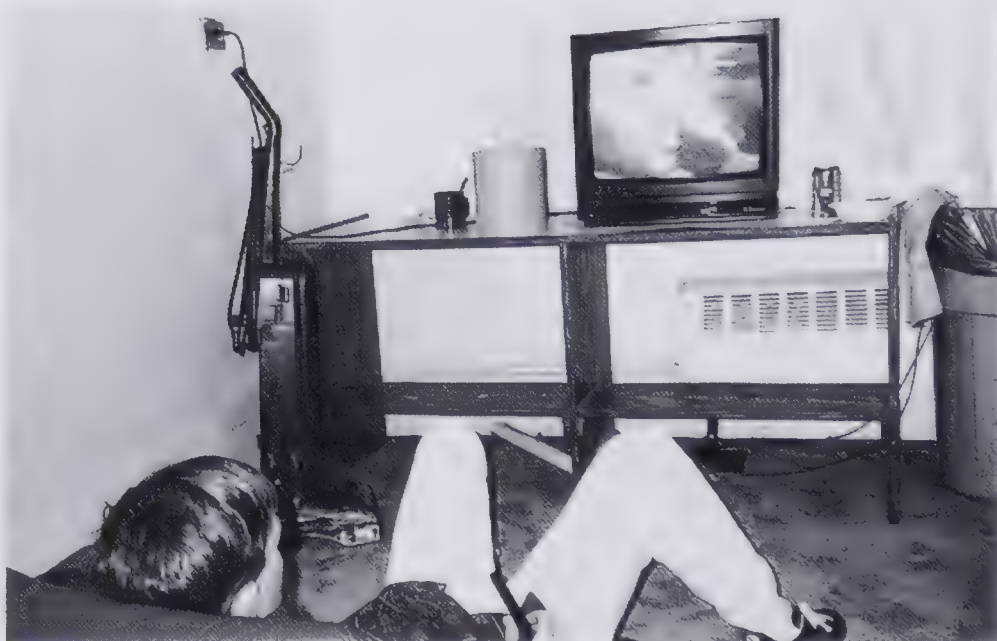

Witzel Hall

Justin Gates, Josh Ashcroft, Andrew Nelson, DeValarie Love, Andy Springer, and Jim Mellon, the Resident Assistants of Witzel Hall. Not Pictured: Spencer Walters.

Marc Rickaby, Jeremy Tidwell, and David Joliffe play a friendly game.

Toby Smith lazes around watching television in the Honor Hall TV Room.

Give him the 'Heimlich'!
He's choking to death!" DeValerie Love and Craig Banks joke around in the guys dorm.

For the last time, Syd, I don't know how to play this thing!

Joey Feiler sits back and has a relaxing conversation with a friend.

Services, Cafe, & Industries

John! You won't fit!" The grounds crew cleans up the area around the Administration Building.

Sue Pike and Melissa Richardson clean up the mens' bathroom. It's a tough job, but somebody's got to do it...!

Can you say that again?" Diana Westdyk finds time to converse with her friend Randy Wright while Norm Kobberstad looks on with amusement.

Thomas Trepanier and Jason Schrader work together to tape a box at Sea-Tac Pac.

Ken Wileman instructs two of his workers in the finer aspects of campus maintenance.

Open House

The girl's dorm Open House was an awesome success. Even though the concept is fairly new, the turn-out has been impressive every year so far. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Sanborn, Ms.

Beisker, and Ms. Bailey, students and family are allowed to tour the well-decorated halls. It's also the only time during the school year that male students are welcome to view Nelson Hall in its entirety.

The women adorn the walls and doors of their hall to create a specific theme. The themes this year were: "A Charles Dickens Christmas", "New Year's Eve", "Traditional Christmas", "Christmas in the City", and "Christmas in Space". Large quantities of construction paper, tape, glue, and paint are

There was so much effort put into it,
I just couldn't believe it!

~Akarie Laney, Class of 1996~

used to give the halls a very special and unique look.

The Open house makes Christmas just a little more special for Auburn—and no one even mentions the unspoken competition between the halls—they just enjoy the tradition that has earmarked Christmas in the Girl's Dorm for quite some time.

~Jill S. Gorham, Literary Editor,

Chris Gibson proudly shows off her beautifully decorated room to friend Cheryl Rogers.

Well, I tried to fix it..." smiles Ashley Johnson. This was 3RD East on the night of the open house.

Angi Robinson and Mindy Aldred relax in Angi's highly decorated room.

Jared Meharry must have stars in his eyes. Here he is seen in the 1st floor girls dorm open house.

Joy Harwood prepares for the Girls Dorm Open House.

Of course we're on duty!" Mrs. Sanborn and Miss Beisker take a quiet opportunity to chat.

Youth Rally

Pastor Mimms gives his sermon at the Church Service. This speaker seemed to have the talent of captivating his audience.

Ryan Muse, Junior, delivers a stirring testimony of how he led one woman back to Christ through canvassing. His friends know him as "Moose," a laid-back down-to-earth athlete.

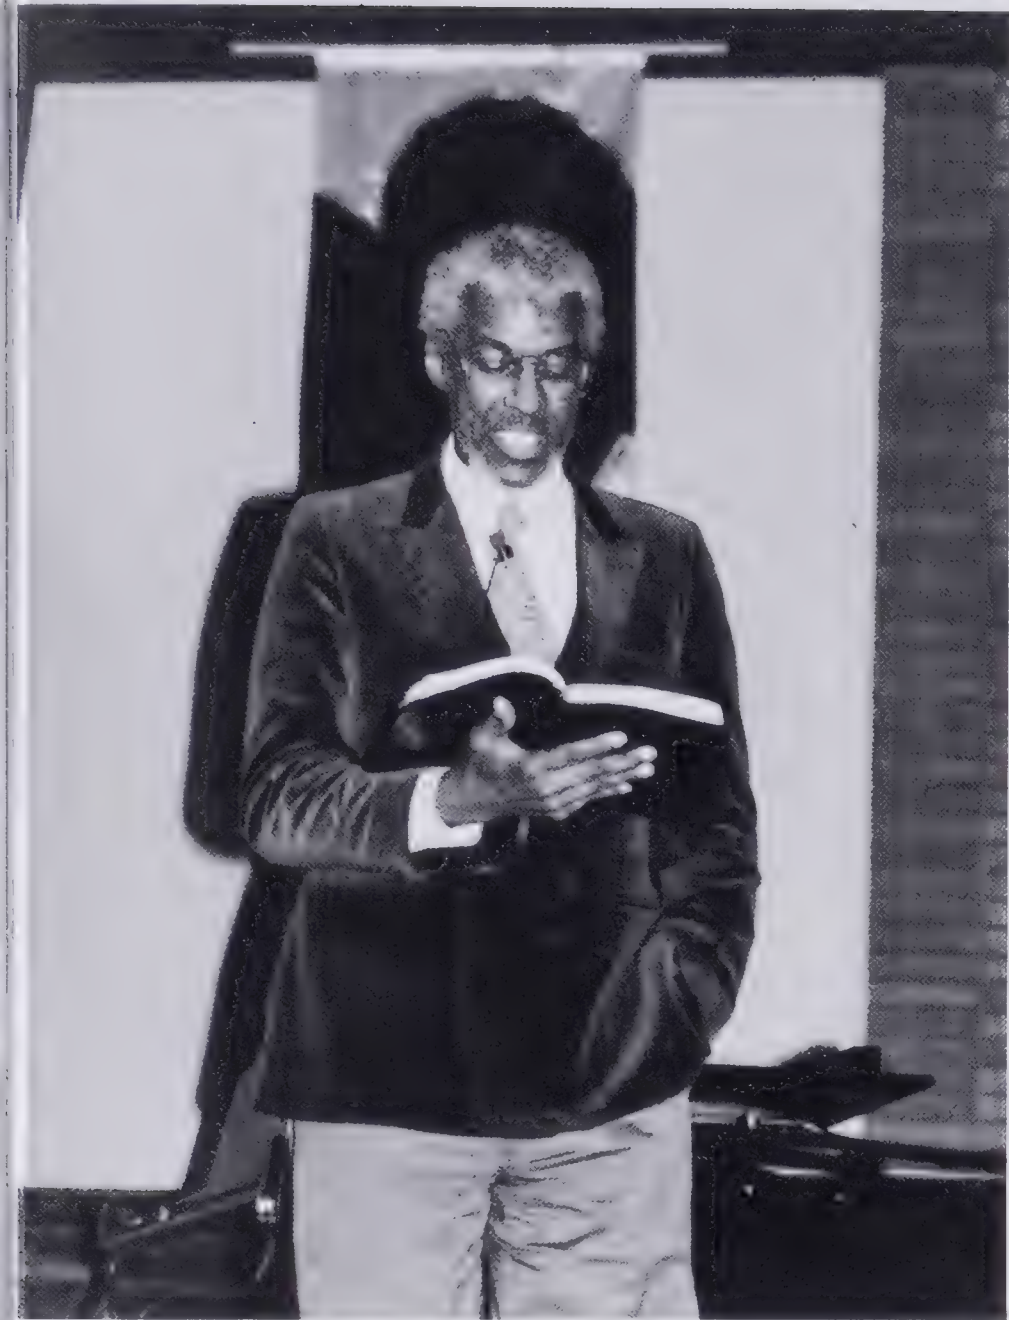

Hey! That's my dolly!" cries Angela White. She performed a Sabbath School skit with Heather Mellon and "Pawl" Colon during the Youth Rally.

Daniel Segovia, guest speaker at the Youth Rally tells the compelling story of how he almost lost his life for Christ.

Justin Gates performs on the washtub bass with great skill while Travis Culver shows off his talent on the guitar. "C'mon guys, play louder!"

Are you laughin' at me?" Jackie Austin and Anthony Stroud lead song service with a smile.

Religious Services

JoAnna Sexton helps with a demonstration. She is a four year senior and one of the most involved students at school.

Terri Allen and Chandra Fiedler play a duet on the xylpohones. As seniors, their talents will be missed next year.

A sea of students graces the great outdoors of where else? Sunset Lake.

Helping out with song service can be totally fun as demonstrated by Jodi Winters, Sarah Bailey, Jeff Downs, and Bozz Fandrich.

Carter Wolverton delivers a "stirring" speech at the NYC Rally.

I like Him because He doesn't throw snowballs!" Tim Hill tells everyone what he loves about Jesus.

Timi Bischoff proves that getting up front isn't as scary as some people think.

Bill Daracunas and James Davis serve as ushers for one of the Sabbath programs. With a look of sheer enthusiasm, Brian Kim exits his row.

Associated Student Body

The annual ASB handshake is a great way to ease “new student anxiety” and spark friendships.

Travis Stovall, guys dean, participates in the festivities at the Harvest Fair.

Hanging out with friends and taking time for fun are two things high-schoolers do really well. This group is uniquely Auburn.

Melissa Webb, Louisa Fandrich, Lindsey Barker, Michael Swadberg, and Karisse Fiedler enjoy their hard-won ice-cream feed at the ASB "Getting to Know You!"

Judy Toop is one cool lady! Along with teaching Anatomy and Physiology, Biology, and Chemistry she finds time to integrate with the students on a personal level.

A kissing clown plasters a kiss on the cheek of Shaun Gray at the Fall Festival.

Randy Wright emerges dripping, but triumphant, from the pool. The flag he retrieved helped propel the Freshman Class to victory at the A. S. B. Getting to Know You party.

Stephanie Erickson and Jamie Kraus stuff their mouths with marshmallows at the Harvest Party. "Mmm-mmm good!"

Jeremy Jensen, Derek Fletcher, Jason May, and Thomas Trepanier! Four of the men that make the Sophomore Class so awesome!

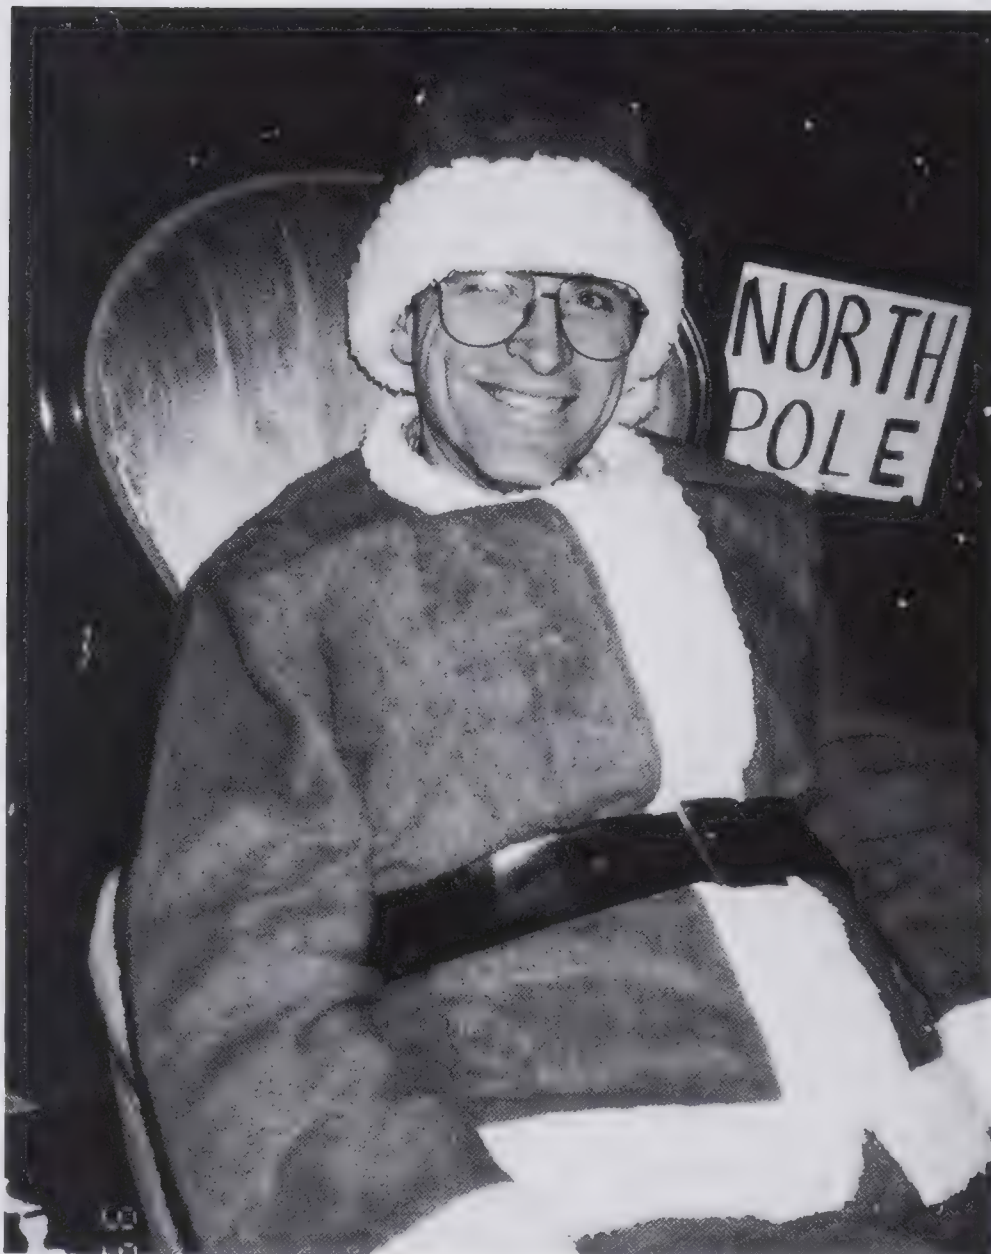

Christmas

Pam Baccus and Luke Loeffler enjoy themselves during the A.S.B. Christmas Banquet.

Zeta Kappa & Casa Loma

John Hoffman, ASB President, kindly volunteers his services as Maitre' D at the Parent/ Daughter Brunch.

Nikki Sharp sits with her mother and father at the Parent/Daughter brunch. Despite inclement weather and icy conditions, her parents made it.

Nicole Duncan, Devanie Keith, Jenna Melville, Jenni Baker, Tara Dahlin, and Cindy Gall are the 1995/96 Zeta Kappa officers.

These guys make Casa Loma, run. Joey Feiler, Bryan Bailey, Spencer Walters, DeValerie Love, Jeremy Tidwell, and Delvin Peterson. Nice work guys!

Andrew Nelson focuses all his energy on the game of ping pong. Andrew is a Four Year Senior with a lot of talent.

Ryan Muse climbs over a few of his friends at the ASB Getting to Know You games. That just can't be comfortable!

Uh, Deanna?" "Yes Colleen?" "What is this?" "I'm not sure, but I'm eating it anyway—it's not half bad!" These two enjoy the brunch set up for parents and their daughters.

Bottoms up! Chris Birmiele, Sylvan Chorale member, squeezes some lemon juice in the back of his throat to ensure a good performance.

Gymnastics

TTravis Stovall and Sydney Foster demonstrate their gymnastic ability.

Willy Goltz spots Brad Dennis, Four Year Senior, as he attempts to complete a back handspring.

I don't know about this!" grimaces Jenni Baker as Mr. Goltz spots her for a move.

You're not serious! You have got to be joking!" joke Gymnastics Team members Sydney Foster and Sunshine Emery.

Being on the Gymnastics team forms some really strong bonds and outstanding friendships. Here Holly Reed, Jim Mellon, Julie Weiss help put together a get-well card for their coach, Mr. Goltz.

Swimming & Volleyball

Angela Robinson tackles a friend in the swimming pool.

The swim meet was quite an event! Many students participated—attempting to beat old records and boost their class into the lead.

Amy Kobberstad gasps for air before plunging back into the water.

Jenni Baker leaps into the air to spike the ball. As part of the Varsity Volleyball squad she got to display her skill at many games scheduled throughout the year.

Go for it! Gina Grosswiler and Suki Aoki attack the volleyball with great enthusiasm!

Football

Matt Becker hurls the football with awesome might as Josh Ashcroft attempts to block. In the background are Brad Dennis, David Niderost, and Rick MacKenzie.

Look Guys! I can fly!" Talk about getting wet and dirty--some guys just love the game, as this group proves--football is all that matters.

Get him!" Brad Dennis and Josh Ashcroft advance on the quarterback.

Forget football, let's roll around in the mud! C'mon guys!" Intramurals football proves it can be very dirty at times.

How far do you think this will go?" Sarah Bailey pummels a football during girl's intramurals. Tara Dahlin watches.

The Many Faces of Auburn

Janie Cox, Beth Shannon, and Elizabeth Darroch sit together at the ASB Christmas Banquet. Places like these really bring out personalities. Hi Beth.

Don't look now, Jenna, but I think Toby's about to take a picture of you!" Joy Harwood and Jenna Melville, both Seniors, dine together. What a face!

Anthony Stroud and Mr. Wright play guitar for Afterglow on a Friday night. You may not have known it, but Mr. Wright made the banjo he's playing. Pretty cool, huh?

JoAnna Sexton, Four Year Senior, enters Nelson Hall after classes. Nelson Hall is home to over one hundred girls.

Scott Stewart, Senior, helps out at one of the booths at the Fall Festival selling candy and donuts. Good job, Scott!

Nate Pierce gets friendly with Mr. Wright's boa constrictor. The snake resides in the Bible classroom where many students can enjoy the hands on learning experience.

Some Sylvan members relax after a concert at the Capital Building. This is the second year in a row that the illustrious Sylvan Chorale had the opportunity to sing at the capital—which, as you can see, is made almost entirely of marble.

Amateur Hour

Chandra Fiedler, Four Year Senior, plays the marimba for Amateur Hour.

Amidst the din of an audience slowly forming, students nervously prepared to perform for parents and friends. The ASB Talent Show was a great success. The acts were better than ever and the crowd was the largest in history.

The cast was very diverse. The performances included a gymnastics routine by Joni Sexton and Travis Stovall; Chandra Fiedler on the marimba; a comedy skit by Bethany Ford, Ted Swinyar, and Ryan Muse; instrument solos by Amy Kim, Cami Cumbo, and various other vocal and instrumental combinations. Travis Culver, Alex Hallock, and Chris Birmele sang their version of 'I Swear'. Terrance Taylor and Jackie Austin sang a duet—as did Thea Renfro and Jessie Jensen. Jackie and Terrance won the grand prize—one-hundred dollars—for their stunning rendition of 'Love Is'. However, there were cash prizes of fifty dollars given to other favored performers.

Amateur Hour was fun! I really enjoyed it!

~Jaimie Kraus, Class of 1999~

The stage was perhaps one of the most stunning parts of the Amateur Hour.

Maintenance crew, ASB, and friends all worked very hard to build a Bayou right on stage. There was even a pier that jutted out in front. It was an excellent show and it will definitely be difficult to top next year.

~Jill S. Gorham, Literary Editor, Class of 1996

Travis Culver, Alex Hallock, and Chris Birmele sing their version of "I Swear" original sung by John Michael Montgomery.

Delvin Peterson tickles the ivories with a lively Scott Joplin tune at the Amateur Hour.

Peter Fackenthall leads a few of the children from the audience in a game with ice-cream as the prize.

Jenni Baker sings lead for Michele Schultz, Caren Castillo, and Tara Dahlin. These four were the only lip sync act. The song was 'Mr. Postman.'

If you took the bones out it wouldn't be crunchy, now would it?" Ted Swinyar, assumes the role of a wacky British confectioner in Monty Python's Crunchy Frog skit. Here he is defending his chocolates against the tirades of Police Chief Bethany Ford and Constable Ryan Muse.

Senior Recognition

Parents, teachers, and friends flooded the Sanctuary on Friday evening, while Seniors had visions of marching to "Pomp and Circumstance". It was the night of January 27, Senior Recognition. It was truly an evening not to miss.

The speakers, the music, the faith and pride you felt in every parent's heart all made it a spectacular event.

It started with Senior Processional, accompanied by Josh Brunkhorst, John Gildersleeve, Sean Gray, Larry Paise, Steve Rodman, and Andy Worley playing the "Trumpet Voluntary." The cast was definitely not one to pass by. The Senior Class of 1996 had an awesome presentation. Several Four-Year-Seniors participated with prayer, scripture, and special music. Juli

Jutzy and Matt Worley introduced their parents as guest speakers. In all, it was a fantastic vespers for the Seniors, helping the Class of 1996 realize their accomplishments.

When I was a child, I talked like a child, I understood like a child, I thought like a child: but when I became an (adult) I put childish ways behind me, ~1 Corinthians 13:11~

Looking back over the years, it's easy to see that everyone has sailed different seas. As Seniors, we've come to realize that we all serve one God—the One who has an eternal love for each one of us. Now, as we approach adulthood, we begin to recognize our failures and believe in our successes. As the Class of 1996, I feel one thing that we have learned as a group is that: where we are now is not determined by where we came from, but the road that brought us here.

Sylvan Chorale, under the direction of John Neumann, sings at the Capital Building in the fall. The concert was excellent—in typical Sylvan fashion.

This year I have learned many things. A little about history, a little about math, and a lot about life. As I think about all the things that worried me, I realize how insignificant most of them really are. What does passing that big Spanish test have to do with going to heaven? Why is it so important to letter in basketball when you're flunking Spanish? All that I'm trying to say is that we take ourselves much too seriously. We need to become individuals motivated to help each other reach the goals we have set. I would hope that each one of you will make that goal: heaven.

What I learned this year

by Walter Cox

Talk to Jesus more; he will always be there when you need a friend.

Smile more; it makes this world a happier place.

Hugs will solve almost any problem.

Take time out to spend with a friend when he/she needs someone to talk to.

Always mean what you say; sincerity will keep your friends close.

Respect. We need to respect each other more and not always cut each other down.

Take Jesus to a baseball game.

Be more humble; you don't need to tell people how great you are. If they see that you are great it will have much more impact.

Name your angel; when Gilbert helps you out, you'll know whom to thank.

Don't let people put down your ideas; the uniqueness of your ideas is what makes you special.

Learn when to talk and when not to.

Relax. If you don't enjoy high-school, you should get an F.

Learn how to do something new; it will improve your other skills as well.

Read your Bible, there is some really cool stuff in there! See John 14:12!

Angela White and Jamie Aldred get ready for NYC. These two did children's Bible studies.
